

Math 195: Community Internship in Mathematics Education

Math 195: Community Internship in Mathematics Education. Tutorial, to be arranged. Limited to juniors/seniors. Internship to be supervised by Center for Community Learning and Mathematics Department. Students meet on a regular basis with instructor, provide periodic reports of their experience, have assigned readings on mathematics education, and complete final paper. The final paper is a substantial part of course, and will require a significant investment of time during the quarter. May not be repeated and may not be applied toward major requirements. Individual contract with supervising faculty member required. P/NP grading.